

A photographic dialogue
Gabriele Seethaler - Carl Djerassi

Carl Aigner, director, Landesmuseum Niederösterreich, St. Pölten, January 2009

Gabriele Seyffarth

DIE GEZÄHMTE WILDSAU
VON ERNSTTAL VERGASS
IHRE ZAHMHEIT, NAHM DIE
LAUT SCHREIENDE DAME
AUF DEN RÜCKEN UND
RASTE DAVON.
HÄTTE ICH EIN LEITBILD,
SO WÄRE ES JENES TIER

- Acrophilia : arousal from heights or high places
- Aecyruy : arousal from exposure to sun's rays
- Agrophilia : arousal from open spaces or having sex in public
- Agrotopophilia : arousal from others knowing you are having sex
- Allophilia : arousal from water
- Amorruia : sex parked in car
- Anthophilia : arousal from smelling flowers
- Banruia : arousal from smell
- Copulophilia : arousal from watching others smoke
- Crugruia : arousal from being flinched in a crowd
- Erguia : tendency to only be aroused in darkness
- Metaphilia : arousal from music
- Myrophilia : arousal from soiled clothing or find decaying ones
- Thibromingruia : arousal from heat
- Uduia : arousal from water

SCHEINBERG Never heard of it.

BENJAMIN "Pope" comes from the Greek for intellect.

SCHEINBERG Pygopolis... teacher of the new one?

GEORGE (Laughing) New look in the curriculum.

BENJAMIN Pygopolis was... to both activities.

Don't let me continue

 GERSHON SCHOLEM

TU Dortmund University, Germany, April 23-25, 2009.

Gabriele Seethaler, an Austrian biochemist who became a photographer and artist, began to fuse art and science in a project entitled Identity Genotype-Phenotype. The Vienna Gallery Heide Curtze has shown her work since 2000.

